WINE OF THE WEEK

BOTTEGA VENETIAN GOLD PROSECCO

Bottega Venetian Gold Prosecco

We divide our time between our homes in New York City and Southern Spain. We travel the world by air and land visiting wine regions and sail the seven seas teaching wine to luxury cruise guests. So far we have only been to six continents, but we fully intend to be the first journalists to visit Antarctica when they start making ice wine.

The holidays are here, and as usual we cannot get enough of bright, shiny things this season. As Christmas weekend and the big day itself approach, we can think of no better way to celebrate than with Bottega Venetian Gold Prosecco. Part of Bottega's "Liquid Metals" collection (there are also Platinum and Rose Gold versions) Bottega Gold comes in a gleaming bottle that is a lustrous work of art in and of itself. Whether you are pouring for a party or presenting as a gift, Bottega Gold will have them "ooohing" and "aahing" before you even pop the cork. Even better than the bottle it comes in, Bottega Gold is made with organically farmed Glera grapes, the variety that is traditionally used for Prosecco.

Bottega Venetian Gold Prosecco DOC is effervescent in the glass, with a strong column of diminutive bubbles. Aromas of green apple and white flowers prepare the taste buds for refreshing flavors of Granny Smith apple, honeydew melon, and apricot preserves. The finish is marked with a soft floral note and lasting acidity.

Entertaining with Bottega Gold is a snap: Fill a large glass bowl with ice and a few bottles, place some flutes alongside on your hall table, and your entry decorations are done. Whether you have some extra bottles under the tree to give as gifts or show up at a holiday party with a chilled bottle in hand, Bottega Gold is sure to make everyone's day merry and bright. And if you are traveling for the holidays, you will be thrilled to know that we have seen these beautiful bottles in just about every duty free shop in airports all over the world.
